

Employee Handbook and HR Policies

This handbook is designed to acquaint you with Magellan (the “Company”), and provide you with information about your work place, employee benefits, and some of the policies affecting your employment. You are required to read, understand, and comply with all provisions of the handbook. It describes many of your responsibilities as an employee and outlines the programs developed by the Company to benefit employees. One of our objectives is to provide a work environment that is conducive to both personal and professional growth.

No employee handbook can anticipate every circumstance or question about policy. As the Company continues to grow, the need for change may arise. Magellan has the right to revise, supplement and rescind policies or portions of the handbook from time to time as it deems appropriate, in its sole and absolute discretion. Where changes can be anticipated in advance, the Company will attempt to notify employees of such changes.

The handbook is not a contract of employment. Unless an employee has a current employment agreement signed by an executive officer of Magellan and by the employee, employment at Magellan is at-will, that is, terminable at the will of either the employee or the Company, for any reason, at any time. Nothing in this handbook shall be construed to limit, in any way, an employee’s rights under Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act.

General

Company Philosophy

Magellan is committed to creating a collaborative working relationship with each employee. Part of that commitment is the understanding that both you and Magellan have responsibilities to each other.

Our responsibility to you starts with our commitment to lead humanity to healthy, vibrant lives. We demonstrate our values of integrity, accountability, collaboration and caring by the manner in which we approach our work and treat each other. We extend this commitment to the communities where we live and work through the eMbrace program (financial assistance for employees experiencing a hardship), the Magellan Cares Foundation (a non-profit charitable organization) and various other programs aligned with our mission and vision.

Effective leadership reflects these values and uses them as a foundation upon which to build strategies, policies, and processes. We are dedicated to creating and fostering an environment that will support you in your growth and development as an individual and as a part of our team, and are committed to creating a system that rewards your performance and contribution.

Your responsibility to Magellan is built on the same foundation of commitment to our mission and values. As an individual, you should be conscientiously connecting your personal values and goals with Magellan's values and goals. We encourage you to take ownership for your future, and make choices about your environment, development and career that support your goals and Magellan's goals. As Magellan continues to develop, your unique contribution is critical to fostering our core values. By supporting our core values, you have the opportunity to shape Magellan and create a culture that works!

As you review your Handbook, we encourage you to talk with your manager about how different policies and procedures affect you. If you have any comments or suggestions, forward them to our HR Department.

Code of Conduct

Here at Magellan we believe in conducting business honestly, ethically and responsibly. As a company, and as individuals, we must always act with integrity and conduct our business with respect and compassion. Our customers and the people we serve trust us to do the right thing, and you play an important role in protecting these relationships.

Because compliance with federal and state regulations, contractual obligations and Company policies is something Magellan takes very seriously, it is a condition of employment that all Magellan employees are required to read the Code of Conduct and sign the electronic signature acknowledgment receipt. These documents are provided to you via 'Onboarding Tasks' in Workday and are available anytime on MagNet from the Legal, Compliance, & Security homepage.

Hiring

Equal Employment Opportunity

Magellan is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to employees and applicants for employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, marital status, age, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, physical or mental disability, disabled veteran or veteran of the Vietnam Era status, or any other factors protected by law.

As an equal opportunity employer, Magellan makes all employment decisions and administers personnel actions without regard to race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, marital status, age, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, physical or mental disability, or veteran status. This includes employment decisions related to recruiting, training, terminations, transfers, and promotions.

In addition, Magellan makes decisions on employment and promotions based on an individual's qualifications relative to the position being filled, and administers personnel activities such as compensation, benefits, dismissals, educational development, and social and recreational programs without regard to race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, marital status, age, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, physical or mental disability or veteran status.

Magellan exhibits and confirms its commitment to equal employment opportunities by:

- Ensuring that managers and employees are aware of Magellan's commitment to equal employment opportunity by disseminating this policy through the Employee Handbook, internal communications, Company publications, and management meetings during which the intent of Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) policy and individual responsibilities are discussed.
- Identifying the organization as an equal opportunity employer in recruitment advertising.
- Periodically reviewing the Magellan employment application to determine compliance with the latest state and federal EEO regulations.
- Notifying recruiting sources of Magellan's EEO policy and corporate commitment.
- Requiring healthcare providers and facilities with which Magellan contracts to agree not to discriminate.

Any employee who believes that he or she has experienced discrimination in employment practices should report the incident immediately to his or her supervisor. If this is not appropriate, the employee should contact the next level of management, a Human Resources Business Consultant, or the Chief Human Resources Officer.

Magellan will not tolerate retaliation against employees who raise concerns of discrimination or who file a claim of discrimination whether through external agencies or through the Company's internal procedures.

Americans with Disabilities Act

Magellan is committed to providing equal opportunity employment to qualified individuals with disabilities. Magellan agrees to employ, advance in employment and otherwise treat qualified individuals without regard to their disability in all recruitment and advertising efforts, hiring, upgrades, demotions, transfers, layoffs, terminations, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, benefits, and selection for training.

As required by Federal and many state laws, Magellan provides reasonable accommodation to disabled employees and job applicants to permit them to perform the essential functions of their jobs in a safe and efficient manner. If an employee believes that he or she is in need of an accommodation in order to perform one or more primary functions of a job, it is the employee's responsibility to address the need(s) with his or her immediate supervisor and/or Human Resources.

Employment Applications

Magellan relies upon the accuracy of information contained in the employment application, as well as the accuracy of other data presented throughout the hiring process and employment. Any misrepresentations, falsifications, or material omissions in any of this information or data may result in Magellan's exclusion of the individual from further consideration for employment. If the person has been hired, termination of employment may occur.

Internal Job Posting

Regular full-time and part-time vacancies up to and including Director level positions will be posted on the Magellan intranet and internet. To ensure that employees are offered the opportunity of consideration for job advancement and transfers, internal candidates will be given priority consideration for the first five (5) days of posting, after which hiring managers will be free to consider an offer to an external candidate as well. Certain vacancies may be filled without posting (e.g., to accommodate employees returning from a leave of absence or layoff, rotational job assignments, promotion within a Job Family or department, etc.).

Employees will be given equal opportunity for consideration for vacancies without regard to race, color, creed, religion, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, age, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, physical or mental disability, disabled veteran or veteran of the Vietnam Era status, or any other factors protected by law. Generally, employees may apply for a position if they meet the following criteria:

- In good standing (not on a Performance Improvement Plan); and
- At least one year of service in their current position. If the new role is within the employee's current department, at least 6 months of service in that department.

If selected for an interview, the employee must coordinate the specific interview time with his or her manager to ensure work requirements are met.

Internet Job Posting - Application Procedures

- Employees may submit internal applications throughout the posting period; however, after an initial five day posting period, the hiring manager may, with Human Resources concurrence, decline further applications for review if a sufficient pool of qualified applications have been received and qualified candidates have been identified for interviews.
- Employees submit their existing or newly created resumes on-line through the job posting web site on the Company's intranet. This submission process also includes the acknowledgement that the employee has read the job posting policy.
- Employees who do not have access to the internet or the intranet should submit their resume to the Recruiter for the position of interest.
- Employees may speak informally with HR or the hiring manager prior to submitting an application. However once an interview is scheduled with the hiring manager, the employee should advise the current manager that an interview is scheduled so as to coordinate the interviewing appointment time in such a manner that current work requirements are met.

Offers to external candidates cannot be made prior to interviewing qualified internal candidates who applied during the initial five day posting period. If an employee is selected to fill a posted position, the employee may be released from his or her current position between ten (10) and twenty (20) working days following acceptance of the offer. Receiving and releasing managers will coordinate the release date. If agreed to by the releasing and hiring managers, the twenty working day period may be extended to accommodate a critical business need. Promotional pay increases may be granted in accordance with Company compensation guidelines then in effect. In general, pay increases will not be offered for transfers within the same pay grade.

Employees will be required to submit their resume or create one on-line through the job posting web site on the Company's intranet where access permits.

Employment Background Investigations

To ensure that individuals who join Magellan are well qualified and have a strong potential to be productive and successful, any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a satisfactory background investigation. This applies to all employees, persons rehired or reinstated after an absence longer than three months, interns and cooperative education students. At the discretion of management, this may also include trainees and other non-employees. The background investigation process respects the privacy and dignity of the prospective employee.

Information obtained from the background investigation is shared only with individuals involved in the hiring process. Any additional consultation is done on a case-by-case basis and only involves individuals who have a need to know. Need to know is determined by the Legal Department and Human Resources.

Employment Reference Checks

With regard to inquiries received by Magellan from outside companies, employees should not respond to reference check inquiries or requests for letters of recommendation for employment. Magellan has contracted The Work Number to handle all reference check inquiries. The Work Number will confirm only dates of employment, length of employment and most recent position held. Wage rates may also be provided, pending the employee's permission. Providing references outside of these parameters is strictly against policy and may result in disciplinary action.

Immigration Law Compliance

Magellan is committed to employing only United States citizens and aliens who are authorized to work in the United States and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of citizenship or national origin.

In order to comply with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, each employee, as a condition of employment, must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and present documentation establishing identity and employment eligibility within three (3) business days of being hired. Former employees who are rehired must also complete the form if they have not completed an I-9 with Magellan within the year, or if their previous I-9 is no longer retained or valid.

Employees with questions or seeking more information on immigration law issues are encouraged to contact Human Resources. Employees may raise questions or complaints about immigration law compliance without fear of reprisal.

Referral Bonus

Magellan has an employee referral program, which rewards employees who refer candidates hired as a result of these referrals. The direct supervisor of the new hire, recruiting/staffing personnel as well as all individuals at the VP level and above, with the exception of physicians who refer physicians, are not eligible for the referral bonus. If a referral is hired, the employee who referred the candidate will be paid a referral bonus after the referred employee completes three months of service. Both referring employee and the referred employee must be employed by Magellan in an active status at the time the bonus is to be paid in order to be eligible for the referral bonus. For details and instructions on how to refer potential candidates, visit the MyCareer section of MyMagellan.

Employment

Employee Categories

Magellan recognizes three categories of employment based on an employee's scheduled work hours (full time, part time, intermittent). These classifications are used to identify employees for pay purposes in accordance with the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and to define eligibility for benefits.

Full Time Employees

A full time employee is one who is regularly scheduled and regularly works at least thirty (30) hours per week. Full time employees are eligible for the full range of benefits (although certain time-off benefits may be prorated for employees who work less than 37.5 hours per week) offered by Magellan once applicable waiting or service time criteria have been met.

Part Time Employees

A part time employee is one who is regularly scheduled and regularly works at least twenty (20) but less than thirty (30) hours per week. Part time employees are eligible to participate in certain Magellan group benefit plans at modified employee contribution rates that will be defined during each benefit enrollment period. Eligibility for other employee benefits will be as described in the applicable benefit policies or summary plan descriptions.

Intermittent Employees

An intermittent employee is one who is regularly scheduled to work less than twenty (20) hours per week or who works a sporadic schedule on an "as-needed" basis. Employees in this classification are not eligible for Paid Time Off and are only eligible for benefits mandated by law (i.e., Medicare, worker's compensation, unemployment, etc.). An Intermittent employee may be hired or permitted to work more than twenty (20) hours per week for a specific Company need, but is still not eligible for benefits unless moved to a regular part time or full time position.

Employee Classifications

The distinctions outlined below are based primarily on the nature of the work and the duties performed. Jobs are classified as exempt according to strict guidelines established by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), which define the type of work being performed and the method by which employees are paid.

Exempt Employees

Exempt employees are paid a salary (versus being paid for hours worked), and are not eligible to receive overtime pay. These jobs have been defined as exempt from overtime based on the FLSA duties and salary tests. Since exempt employees are paid for performing a job, and not compensated for the actual number of hours they work in any given day, pay is not reduced for partial day absences. Exempt employees may use Paid Time Off (PTO) or Floating Holidays in full-day or half-day increments.

Non-Exempt Employees

Non-Exempt Employees are paid for all hours worked. Non-exempt employees are paid in accordance with state and federal overtime requirements. Consistent with FLSA regulations, non-exempt employees must be paid time-and-one-half (1.5) of their regular rate of pay for all hours worked over forty (40) in a workweek. If state law requires overtime to be calculated differently from federal regulations, employees working in that state will be paid according to state law. Non-exempt employees may take PTO and Floating Holidays in ¼ hour (0.25) increments. All partial day absences will be deducted from a non-exempt employee's PTO and/or Floating Holiday balance. It will be unpaid if no PTO and Floating Holiday balances are available.

Credited Service

When an employee terminates employment, either voluntarily or involuntarily, and subsequently returns to work for Magellan, a break in service occurs. If an employee returns to work after a break in service, the period of previous employment may be included in the current Credited Service calculation if certain requirements for bridging are met.

Credited Service refers to the continuous number of years, months and days an employee has worked for Magellan or its affiliated companies effective January 1, 1999. Credited Service is used to determine eligibility for certain employee benefits and programs as noted below. Magellan will grant credit for prior service, within certain parameters.

Rehire Within Thirty (30) Days:

If a rehire occurs within thirty (30) days of termination date, the Credited Service date will remain unchanged from the previous period of employment. Eligibility for all benefits will be unchanged. If the employee was enrolled in any of the employee benefit plans, re-enrollment will be allowed; however, no changes in elections may be made until the designated open enrollment period unless a qualifying Section 125 event (the IRS-defined qualifying life events) occurs.

If standard new hire waiting periods had been satisfied during the prior employment period, eligibility for benefit coverage resumption will be as follows:

- The effective date for insurance coverage (health, dental, life) is the date the employee returns to Magellan.
- Resumption of the Retirement Savings Plan (401(k)), participation and deductions will be immediately effective.
- For employee leave time (PTO, floating holidays, etc.), employees will be treated as new hires and will accrue leave benefits based upon the time remaining until the end of the fiscal year (assuming they received payout of their unused accrued PTO at prior termination).
- For purposes of Short Term Disability (STD) eligibility, if the last termination date is within the first 6 months of employment, the time spent away from Magellan will not count towards STD eligibility. The employee must complete 6 months of service to qualify for STD benefits.
- For purposes of Family and Medical Leave (FML), the time spent away from Magellan will not count towards FML eligibility.

Rehire Within One (1) Year:

If a rehire occurs within one (1) year of the date of termination, the employee's Credited Service date will be adjusted to include previous service; however, no credit will be given for the time not employed. Eligibility for benefit coverage will be as follows, if the standard new hire waiting period has been satisfied:

- Elected benefit coverage will become effective the first of the month following the date of rehire, including participation in the 401(k).
- Eligibility for employee leave time (PTO, Floating Holidays, etc.) will become effective the first of the month following the date of rehire.

- If an employee is rehired between January and June of any year, the employee will be eligible for two (2) Floating Holidays. If rehire occurs during the July – December calendar period, the employee will be eligible for one (1) Floating Holiday.
- For purposes of STD eligibility, if the last termination date is within the first 6 months of employment, the time spent away from Magellan will not count towards STD eligibility. The employee must complete 6 months of service to qualify for STD benefits.
- Eligibility for FML will be determined by the most recent date of employment, not the Credited Service date.
- If the standard new hire waiting period has not been satisfied, the employee will be credited with any previous service towards the initial new hire waiting period.

Rehire after One (1) Year:

If a rehire occurs after one year break in service, the rehire will be treated as any new employee joining Magellan for the first time, with the exception of a possible adjustment for re-calculated vesting service in the 401(k) plan.

Return from Layoff:

If an employee is laid off and is then rehired within six (6) months, the employee will be credited with the previous service, including the period of layoff. If an employee is rehired more than six (6) months but less than one (1) year after a layoff, the previous Credited Service will apply, but will be adjusted to exclude the period of layoff. Eligibility for insurance and employee leave time benefits after a layoff will be the same as the Rehire eligibility guidelines described above.

Pay Deductions

Federal and state laws/regulations require that Magellan make certain deductions from every employee’s compensation. Among these are applicable federal, state, local income taxes, and withholding orders (child support, garnishments, and tax levies). Magellan offers programs and benefits beyond those required by law. Eligible employees may authorize deductions from their paychecks to cover the costs of participation in these voluntary programs.

Garnishment of Wages

Garnishment of wages can result when an unpaid creditor has taken the matter to court. A garnishment is legal permission for creditors to collect part of an employee’s net disposable wages directly from the Company before an employee receives it. Magellan is required by law to carry out the court’s order.

In the case of garnishment, Payroll will respond to wage inquires made by the court in accordance with the law. A copy of “The Request for Garnishment and Wage Information” form, which explains the details of the garnishment and how it affects wages, will be mailed to the employee and the creditor’s attorney. Employees are encouraged to resolve these matters privately to avoid the Company’s involvement.

Outside Employment

Employees may hold outside jobs as long as they continue to meet the performance standards of their job with Magellan. If Magellan determines that an employee’s outside work interferes with performance or the ability to meet the requirements of Magellan, as they are modified from time to time, the employee may be asked to terminate the outside employment if he or she wishes to remain with Magellan. Outside employment that Magellan believes is a conflict of interest is prohibited. Employees may not receive any income or material gain from individuals outside the Company for materials produced or services rendered while performing their jobs at Magellan.

Personal Data Changes

It is the responsibility of each employee to promptly notify Magellan of any changes in personal data. Specifically, name; personal mailing addresses; telephone numbers; number and names of dependents; citizenship status; individuals to be contacted in the event of an emergency; educational accomplishments; and other such information should be accurate and current at all times. Inaccuracies may prevent you from receiving important correspondence. If any personal data has changed, the employee is expected to update his or her information online in Workday.

Access to Employee Files

Magellan maintains an employee file on each employee, which may include such information as the employee's job application, resume, records of training, documentation of performance and salary increases, and other employment records.

Employee files are the property of Magellan and access to the information they contain is generally restricted. Employees who wish to review their own file should contact Human Resources. With reasonable advance notice, employees may review their own employee file in the presence of an individual appointed by Magellan to maintain the files. Supervisors and management staff of Magellan who have a legitimate reason to review information in the file are also allowed to do so. In addition, information may be disclosed to permit the Company to monitor and/or comply with legal obligations.

Attendance at Work

Hours of Work

Magellan provides services to its clients on a 24-hour per day basis and will schedule its employees as necessary to meet those service obligations while endeavoring to provide work schedules and practices that are conducive to an appropriate work/life balance. All of Magellan's work hour practices are intended to be in compliance with the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and any applicable state laws.

Daily work schedules will be established by each department or location to best facilitate operational needs. Generally, the workday for employees classified as "non-exempt" will consist of 8 hours of paid work time along with an unpaid meal period. Employees classified as "exempt" are expected to work whatever number of hours is necessary in a day to meet the operational needs of the organization.

Where practical, a department or location may establish flexible work schedules to provide additional flexibility for its employees. Employees should know and adhere to their established work schedule. Employees should seek and obtain approval from their supervisor in advance for any modifications to their schedule.

Meal Periods

Employees are generally granted an unpaid meal period of at least 30 minutes if working at least 5 hours or more on a given day (or as applicable state laws may provide). The meal break should be taken away from the employee's regular work area and free of interruption. A missed meal break may result in additional pay due unless the employee's working hours are adjusted to make up for this during the same overtime week (Sunday through Saturday). Employees are expected to observe established meal period guidelines as well as report any missed meal periods to their supervisor right away. Employees who fail to adhere to their department's meal period schedule may be subject to disciplinary action.

Break Periods

Subject to workload and scheduling needs, employees may take a paid work break (generally up to 15 minutes) in the morning and afternoon. Departments or locations may establish a local break scheduling policy to ensure that work is not unduly disrupted by breaks. Employees are expected to observe established break period guidelines. Employees who fail to adhere to their department's break time period schedule may be subject to disciplinary action.

Work Hours

The work hours at Magellan vary based on each operating unit's current business needs. As a general rule, Magellan's standard is 40 hours: Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Any operating unit may require alternative scheduling, which can include evenings and weekends, to meet customer and/or contractual needs. Employees should consult with their supervisor if there are any questions regarding their work schedule.

Alternative Work Arrangements

Production workload, demographic composition of the workforce and Magellan's desire to continue to improve employee work/life balance are just a few reasons the Company provides the opportunity for alternative work arrangements. Alternative work arrangements are provided at the discretion of the Company and include flexible work schedule, peak-time schedule, part-time schedule, intermittent schedule, job sharing schedule and alternative work place. Alternative work arrangements should be coordinated by the department in consultation with the HR Business Consultant.

Additional and Overtime Work

Unless otherwise required by law, if a non-exempt employee works more than his/her scheduled hours in a workweek, those additional hours worked, up to 40 hours, will be paid at the employee's regular hourly rate in addition to pay for regularly scheduled hours. Any hours worked in excess of 40 in a workweek, will be compensated at an overtime rate of 1.5 times the employee's regular hourly rate for the week.

Additional time, overtime and/or any other adjustments to pay will be processed in the next payroll following the pay period in which the activity occurs. Non-exempt employees must secure the approval of their supervisor prior to working additional and/or overtime hours. Employees who do not secure prior approval must be paid for hours worked, as outlined above, but may be subject to disciplinary action for disregarding this policy.

Time Reporting

Time records are legal documents and therefore when submitted by employees, must be accurate. Time records are to be approved by the employee's supervisor and must reflect the actual time worked and taken off. Consult your supervisor immediately to make any corrections to an already submitted time sheet. Inaccuracies and/or false reporting of time or the signing of anyone's time sheet other than an employee's own timesheet is considered a very serious misconduct offense and could warrant disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Non-exempt employees must record all hours worked and adjustments on a daily basis. Timesheets must be submitted in accordance with the Payroll and Time Sheet Calendar maintained by Payroll and available on Magellan's intranet. Timesheets not submitted in a timely manner as determined by Magellan will cause a delay in payment of any adjustments or overtime pay that may be due the employee. Failure to submit timesheets in a timely manner may result in disciplinary action.

Magellan is required to pay overtime based solely upon on the number of hours worked in a "workweek" which is defined as Sunday 12:01 a.m. through the following Saturday midnight. Therefore, any adjustments to an employee's work schedule needed to balance out or make up missed hours must occur during this time frame.

Exempt employees are to complete and submit a “PTO request” for any pay period in which Paid Time off (PTO) is utilized or when there has been any other deviation from their standard salaried week.

Time Off

Magellan provides time off options including Paid Time Off, Holidays, Floating Holidays, Bereavement, Jury Duty, Military Leave, Medical Leave and more to allow employees time away from work for short-term illness, personal emergencies or to enjoy time away from work.

All employees (exempt and non-exempt) are required to request and report time off in Workday.

More information can be found on the Time Off page under MyBenefits on MyMagellan.

Leaves of Absence \(Medical, FMLA\)

If an employee needs time off from work that extends past 3 days, the employee may request a leave of absence. A Leave of Absence (LOA) is an officially excused period of time away from work. Magellan has a number of different leave options including Medical, FMLA, and Military. For specific requirements and qualifications around Leaves of Absence, visit the My Benefits section of MyMagellan.

Attendance and Punctuality

Attendance and reliability are foundational expectations of a productive work environment. Adherence to schedule is vital to the successful operations of Magellan Health. Excessive absenteeism, tardiness and overall unreliability have a detrimental impact to our work.

In general, all employees are held to the expectation that they will arrive on time, ready to work for all scheduled work-days. Employees are expected to request time off in advance per Magellan’s Paid Time Off policy. Magellan understands and appreciates the vast differences in every person’s life and the challenges posed when balancing life with work. Therefore, under a ‘no fault’ philosophy; all reasons for unscheduled or unapproved absence or tardiness are treated the same.

It is the Company’s policy to make reasonable accommodation to employees with regard to attendance issues under intermittent Family Medical Leave and/or the Americans with Disabilities Act. It is the employee’s responsibility to ask for such accommodations when applicable.

A key element in preventing excessive absenteeism is having good communication between manager/supervisor and employee. Employees who are unsure of their attendance requirements are expected to seek out clarification from their supervisor or manager. A copy of this policy may be viewed at all times on the MyMagellan website.

Non-Exempt/Hourly Employees

In some environments, such as production or call-center areas, requirements for adherence to schedule may be defined more specifically and are managed based on impact to performance. [As an example, the absence or lateness of an employee who is responsible for covering a phone queue has a more direct and immediate impact to the department’s performance than an employee in a less production-type role.] In this case, it is helpful to understand specifically how attendance will be managed and tracked.

The following standards outline performance improvement actions that may be taken in response to increasing levels of unplanned/unscheduled absenteeism, lateness and early departures for non-exempt employees.

Attendance will be tracked on a rolling 12-month basis as opposed to a calendar year. These standards are contingent on a full-time work schedule and should be pro-rated for part-time employees.

Unscheduled Absences Guidelines

As soon as an employee knows an absence is necessary, he or she should follow the call-in procedures established by the department. The absence must be reported within one hour of the specified start-time. This notification should include a reason for the absence, and an indication of when the employee will return to work.

It is not acceptable to call a co-worker or colleague. It is also expected that the absence will be reported directly by the employee. If the absence is expected to last more than one day, the employee must call in daily following the call-in procedures established by the department unless given specific permission to do otherwise.

An “unscheduled absence” occurs when an employee is absent without requesting time off in advance. Unscheduled absence hours (UAH) are tracked over a rolling 12-month period. Unscheduled Absence Hours (UAH) are subject to the following performance improvement actions.

For employees regularly scheduled to work 40 hours per week:

As a result of unscheduled absences cumulatively totaling:	Action:
40 hrs	Verbal Discussion
56 hrs	Written Notice
64 hrs	Final Written Notice
72 hrs	Termination

- Where possible, all requests for PTO must be approved in advance, regardless of the type of absence. This pre-approval pertains to full day absences, planned late arrivals and planned early departures.
- If an employee is absent for three or more consecutive days due to illness or injury, a physician’s statement must be provided upon request verifying that the employee has been under the physician’s care, the beginning date and expected end date.
 - When a doctor’s note is provided after two or more days are missed, these absences may be combined and counted as equal to one workday (e.g. 8 hours for a 40 hour per week employee).
 - When an absence extends to three days or more, the employee’s pay, in consultation with Human Resources, may be suspended until he or she returns to work, requests a leave of absence or submits appropriate documentation to return to work.
- Except for extreme emergencies, failure to properly notify the manager/supervisor of any absence or lateness may result in loss of pay and may be grounds for termination. If the employee does not call in and does not respond to communication from the Company for a period of two consecutive business days, it will be considered voluntary job abandonment and may result in termination.

Tardiness and Other Missed Time Guidelines

If an employee fails to report to work at the regularly scheduled shift or return from breaks on time, he or she will be considered tardy. In addition, if the arrival time is more than 7 minutes late or the leaving work time is more than 7 minutes early, the employee will be required to charge PTO in 15 minute increments dependent upon the amount of time missed from work.

Being late when reporting to work or back from a scheduled break will be considered tardy and will be monitored as any other missed time. The following guidelines have been established for consistency:

Number in a rolling 3 month period	Action
Tardy 4 times in 3 month period	Verbal Discussion
Tardy 5 times in 3 month period	Written Notice
Tardy 6 times in 3 month period	Final Written Notice
Tardy 7 times in 3 month period	Termination

In the event that a trend or pattern of unplanned absences and/or tardiness is identified; management may, at their discretion, bypass the recommended action steps outlined above.

Exempt/Salaried Employees

The following standards outline performance improvement actions that may be taken in response to increasing levels of unplanned/unscheduled absenteeism, lateness and early departures for exempt employees.

Unscheduled Absences

Employees are expected to notify their immediate supervisor as soon as they know an absence is necessary. The absence must be reported within one hour of the specified start-time. This notification should include a reason for the absence, and an indication of when the employee will return to work.

If the immediate supervisor is not available, the employee should follow the call-in procedures established by the department. It is not acceptable to call a co-worker or colleague. It is also expected that the absence will be reported directly by the employee. If the absence is expected to last more than one day, the employee must properly notify his or her supervisor daily unless given specific permission to do otherwise.

An “unscheduled absence” occurs when an employee is absent without requesting time off in advance. Unscheduled absences are tracked over a rolling 12-month period. If patterns of absence are identified as having an impact to an employee’s ability to perform in their role, the employee will be provided with feedback and performance improvement steps may be taken as follows:

Number of Absences:

5 in a rolling 12-month period
 2 additional (total of 7)
 Next absence (total of 8)
 Next absence (total of 9)

Actions:

Verbal Discussion
 Written Notice
 Final Written Notice
 Termination

- Where possible, all requests for PTO must be approved in advance, regardless of the type of absence. This pre-approval pertains to full day absences, planned late arrivals and planned early departures.
- If an employee is absent for three or more consecutive days due to illness or injury, a physician’s statement must be provided upon request verifying that the employee has been under the physician’s care, the beginning date and expected end date.
 - When a doctor’s note is provided after two or more days are missed, these absences may be combined and counted as equal to one absence.
 - When an absence extends to three days or more, the employee’s pay, in consultation with Human Resources, may be suspended until he or she returns to work, requests a leave of absence or submits appropriate documentation to return to work.
- Except for extreme emergencies, an employee’s failure to properly notify his or her manager/supervisor of any absence or lateness may result in loss of pay and may be grounds for termination. If the employee does not call in and does not respond to communication from the Company for a period of two consecutive business days, it will be considered voluntary job abandonment and may result in termination.

New Employees

For new employees in their first 90 days of work, regardless of exempt/non-exempt status, all absences are considered to have significant impact to training progress and should be avoided if at all possible. When absences and tardiness do occur during this introductory period, the chart below outlines the performance improvement progression:

Number of unscheduled absences/tardy:	Action:
1 unscheduled absence/tardy	Verbal Discussion
2 unscheduled absences/tardy	Written Notice
3 unscheduled absences/tardy	Final Written Notice
4 unscheduled absences/tardy	Termination

Employees must wait until they have completed 90 days of employment before scheduled PTO is taken. At the manager's discretion, limited PTO may be used during the new hire period for personal emergencies. The time will not be counted as unscheduled if prior approval was obtained.

Telecommuting Program

Magellan's Telecommuting Program is intended to establish flexibility in our business model and promote operational efficiencies while ensuring that a high quality of service and confidentiality is maintained for our members, customers and providers. Employee eligibility for telecommuting is established on a case-by-case basis and depends on a number of specific criteria and management approval. Not every role or employee will qualify for participation in the program.

Telecommuting employees must also meet the technology standards and requirements for working remotely and agree to comply with the telecommuting policy. Employees who fail to meet the minimum technology requirements or do not comply with the policy will not be permitted to work remotely, which may impact their employment with Magellan. The policy, requirements and other details of the program can be found on the Telecommuting page of MyMagellan.

Weather Emergency

Based on our commitment to offer continual customer service, we need to assume that the Company is always open. Magellan is committed to having at least a skeleton staff to handle customer and patient needs during extreme weather emergencies. An extreme weather emergency exists when severe weather such as heavy snowfall, road surface icing, flooding or other acts of nature create potential life threatening weather conditions.

Toll-Free Weather Hotline: (855) MAGELLAN or (855) 624-3552

To provide Magellan employees the most up-to-date information regarding potential office closures or delays, the Company operates a toll-free Inclement Weather Hotline specifically for weather-related or other site emergencies. Employees who call will hear real-time reports regarding possible early closings, late openings or full-day closures affecting Magellan offices nationwide. Employees may opt to receive text messages or alerts on their personal devices.

Although unlikely, any decision to close would be made by the senior-most manager at the site, and in that person's absence, should pass logically to the next senior-most person. Every effort will be made to make decisions regarding closures/late openings within two (2) hours of the site's scheduled time to open. Magellan's desire is to maintain uninterrupted operation of our services and business operations.

Office Closures

In almost all cases, Magellan will be open for business. However, in the event of closure, regular full-time employees will be paid for the day. Regular part-time employees will be paid for scheduled hours not worked. Telecommuting employees will be expected to continue their normal work schedules as planned and as approved by their supervisor. If the telecommuting employee is unable to execute his or her job and be productive (ex. loses power to their home during extreme weather) the telecommuter will be paid for the day without using PTO or Emergency Sick just as on-site employees. Additional information regarding use of PTO during Weather Emergencies can be found on MyMagellan.

Traveling During Extreme Weather

We do have concern for our employees traveling when there is an extreme weather emergency. We encourage individuals to assess for themselves if the risk is too great to come to work. It is recognized that within each geographic area, communities may experience different weather patterns and the levels of snow and ice removal service may also differ. In no case should any employee place themselves in a situation in which they feel that their personal safety is in danger. Employees who choose not to travel during an extreme weather emergency must contact their supervisor immediately if they are unable to come in to work. In this case, the employee will be expected to use PTO or Emergency Sick time, if available.

Early Departures

Should an extreme weather emergency begin mid-day, it is each individual's responsibility to determine whether he or she feels it is necessary to leave early. This decision should be based on the individual's feeling toward his or her own safety. All early departures must be discussed with the individual's immediate supervisor to obtain authorization for the early departure. In the case of early departures, as well as late arrivals, employees may arrange with their supervisor to use their PTO, Emergency/Sick time or make up the lost hours within the same pay week. Supervisors are given the authority to determine if, based on the employee's arrival or departure time, make-up work is available. In all situations above, if an employee decides not to come in, comes in late or leaves early when the office is officially open, the absence will be considered unscheduled and will be managed in accordance with departmental attendance guidelines.

If you have any questions about Magellan's policy regarding how time off is treated for severe weather, refer to MyMagellan or talk with your supervisor.

Performance at Work

Performance Connections

Magellan believes employees should be able to know where they stand with respect to applicable performance expectations, whenever they want to know. Instead of a formal evaluation process, Magellan encourages "Performance Connections." This is a more flexible and continuous approach to updating goals and assessing performance on a regular basis. It connects individual objectives to Company and department goals. Two-way dialogue fosters stronger partnerships as we all work together to achieve common goals.

Performance Connections can take place at any time, initiated by the employee or manager. Performance assessment begins with well written goals that are relevant and timely. Both managers and employees can add, edit, update and complete goals in Workday. Goals can be archived and new goals added as needed throughout the year. Additional information can be found on the Performance page of MyMagellan.

Professional Development

Magellan is committed to the professional growth and development of all employees. Magellan provides internal opportunities for personal, professional and leadership development. More information can be found on MyMagellan under My Benefits and My Development.

Employee Relations and Problem Resolution

Our experience has shown that when employees deal openly and directly with supervisors, the work environment can be productive, communications can be clear, and attitudes can be positive. We believe that Magellan amply demonstrates its commitment to employees by responding appropriately and effectively to employee concerns. Conversely, management can be expected to deal openly and directly with employees.

The following steps apply to all employees and addresses interpersonal issues, performance issues, performance improvement plans, and other business-related conflicts.

1. Employees are encouraged to seek open communication in the workplace. Issues are best resolved as close to their point of origin as possible. Should there be a problem with a co-worker or manager, you are encouraged to first attempt to resolve the problem with the individual. In some cases, you may want to discuss your concerns with your immediate supervisor. We expect managers to be approachable and willing to listen to your suggestions or problems and to help you work toward a solution.
2. If the issue cannot be resolved at this level, it should be taken in writing to the next level of management.
3. If the issue has not been resolved by the process outlined above, you can request a review of the situation. A request in writing should be made to the Human Resources Business Consultant. This request should include:
 - the background of the situation,
 - what steps have been pursued to resolve the issue,
 - with whom you have spoken,
 - what response(s) have been received, and
 - what remedy you seek.
4. Employee Relations will review the request and work to facilitate a resolution.

Employees who have a problem with a customer, consultant, vendor, broker or provider should bring the issue to the attention of their manager. Retaliation against an employee for addressing a potential problem will not be tolerated.

1	Initial level of PIP	Verbal discussion
2	Second level of PIP	Written Notice
3	Next level of PIP	Final Written Notice
4	Next level	Termination

In all cases, the PIP to be applied is entirely at the discretion of Magellan management. For instance, steps may be skipped or added depending on the seriousness of the situation or during the first 90 days of employment.

Termination of Employment

Employees are expected to maintain appropriate performance and conduct standards during any notice periods initiated by either the Company or employee. An employee may be denied the opportunity to complete a notice period if the employee is unable to maintain these standards, and the termination date will be moved up accordingly.

Below are the two categories of terminations and examples, however, there may be other reasons not listed below which form the basis for termination.

Voluntary Termination:

Resignation of Employment - An employee resigning for personal reasons or to accept a position outside of Magellan is asked to give notice in writing to their supervisor as soon as this is known. For professional and managerial employees, a notice of one (1) month is considered appropriate. For employees in non-exempt positions, a minimum resignation notice of two (2) weeks is expected.

Job Abandonment - An employee who fails to report for work without proper notification for two (2) working days will be considered as having abandoned his/her position and will be treated as a voluntary termination. This includes employees who fail to return from a leave of absence on the specified date of the leave ending.

Involuntary Termination:

Position Elimination - If an employee is terminated as a result of his or her position being eliminated due to economic reasons or reorganization of functions, the employee will be eligible for severance compensation benefits as described in Magellan's Severance Policy.

Expiration of Family Medical Leave Act and/or Short Term Disability (STD) Benefits - An eligible employee whose total available Family and Medical Leave time (up to 12 weeks) has expired and who has not returned to work may be terminated. In the event an employee is receiving STD benefits, the employee will remain on the payroll until these benefits end, at which time employment will be terminated. In this situation, Magellan may fill the employee's position at any time after FMLA has been exhausted.

Unsatisfactory Performance - An employee who is unable to bring his or her performance to an acceptable level following opportunities to do so may be involuntarily terminated.

Attendance/Other Policy Infractions - An employee may also be involuntarily terminated for poor attendance (See Attendance/Punctuality for details), or other policy/conduct infractions.

Misconduct - An employee may be immediately terminated for serious misconduct. Examples of serious misconduct include, but are not limited to:

- Unauthorized disclosure of confidential or proprietary information concerning Magellan, any Company employee, client organization or member.
- Falsification of any Company document, including employment application, timesheet, leave request, member or client record.
- Violation of the Company's Harassment Policy. Reference Harassment for details.
- Violation of the Company's Workplace Violence Policy. Reference Workplace Violence for details.
- Violation of the Company's Drug Free Workplace Policy. Reference Drug Free Workplace for details.
- Unauthorized or inappropriate use or appropriation of Company equipment, supplies, and computer/telephone systems.
- Violation of specified sections of the Company's Computer Usage or Internet/Email policies. Reference Communications and System Security or Computer Usage for details.
- Theft, fraud or other dishonest acts.
- Insubordination, defined as refusing or deliberately failing to carry out a reasonable instruction of a supervisor.

The above list is not intended to be all-inclusive. Any employee who is suspected of serious misconduct may be suspended so that the circumstances may be adequately investigated and evaluated.

Dress Code Policy

Dress, grooming, and personal cleanliness standards contribute to the morale of all employees and affect the business image Magellan presents to customers and visitors. This includes general cleanliness of clothing, attention to hair, fingernails, body odors, etc. During business hours, employees are expected to present a clean and neat appearance and to dress according to the requirements of their positions.

Business Casual

Magellan has adopted a business casual dress policy. Monday through Thursday each week, employees may elect to dress in Business Casual clothing. Some employees are more comfortable dressing in customary business attire every day. Those employees should not feel compelled to dress casually.

Exercise clothing	Jogging Suits
Bare midriiffs, bare backs	Shorts
Beachwear	Plunging necklines, tank tops
Beach footwear	Torn clothing
Spandex, tights, leggings	Baseball Caps

Executive Leader Discretion:

There may be occasion for executive leaders to use discretion in applying the dress code policy. For example, an executive may use casual dress as a reward or incentive, and/or determine casual dress for specific sites given business requirements, etc. In these instances, executive leaders will ensure consistent and timely communication with local site leaders, as well as any cross functional leaders that may be impacted.

Consult your supervisor if you have questions about this policy or its application.

Drug Free Workplace

Magellan has an obligation to provide a high quality of service to its clients, while at the same time providing employees a safe place to work. To achieve these goals, the following acts of misconduct by employees are strictly prohibited:

- Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.
- Manufacturing, distributing, dispensing, purchasing, selling, possessing and/or using illegal drugs or controlled substances in any manner on or off duty or attempting any of the previously mentioned.
- Excessive use or abuse of legal drugs, such as prescription or over-the counter medications, in any manner during working hours, or at any time on Company premises or on the premises of our clients or vendors.

Employees who engage in any violations of this policy may be subject to termination. When evidence warrants, the Company will bring matters of unlawful drug or alcohol use to the attention of the appropriate law enforcement authorities.

Do not report for work if you are impaired by an intoxicating substance. To support this obligation of a safe workplace, Magellan will also require consultants, on-site vendors and temporary agency workers to comply with the conduct standards described above. Upon occasion, there may be social use of alcohol at certain company-sponsored functions. Each individual has the responsibility to refrain from intoxication and from presenting a health or safety risk to yourself or others. Professional behavior is expected at all times.

Employees, who acknowledge the presence of an alcohol or substance abuse problem, prior to the presentation of performance issues or the discovery of the abuse through testing, will be given an opportunity to seek treatment under ADA, STD and/or FMLA guidelines. For more information on these guidelines, visit the My Benefits section of MyMagellan.

You may be asked to submit to drug and/or alcohol testing, in accordance with this policy, if reasonably suspected of being under the influence, following a workplace incident, or as part of a recovery program. Failure to submit to such tests may result in termination.

You are expected to cooperate fully in a search of personal property, resulting from reasonable suspicion, positive drug test results, or following a major workplace accident. The search may include all Company property, facilities, and Company provided lockers and desks. Refusal to cooperate in a reasonable search may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination. For complete details on the drug testing protocol, reference the Drug-Free Workplace Policy on the Policies and Standards page of MagNet.

In certain circumstances, employees with a positive drug test result may be given an opportunity to enter a treatment program (at the employee's expense unless covered by the Company behavioral and /or health care benefit) or be terminated. Each situation will be evaluated on its own set of facts to determine if termination is necessary. Examples of situations that may warrant termination versus treatment options include:

- Selling or distributing illegal drugs or controlled substances at work or to other employees.

- Workplace accidents attributable to substance or alcohol abuse.
- Inappropriate contact or interactions with clients, providers or employees while in an intoxicated state.
- Other actions of significant detriment to the Company's professional reputation.
- Refusal to cooperate in acknowledging the need for or commencing treatment.
- A performance record demonstrating non-responsiveness to prior attempts at performance improvement.

You should notify your manager if you are not able to report for work and charge the time off to PTO and/or Emergency/Sick Time, if available. Such time off will be considered unscheduled and subject to disciplinary action unless the time off is used to seek rehabilitative services. We encourage employees to make appropriate use of resources that the Company has made available for assistance in dealing with intoxicating substances or substance abuse.

You must notify Human Resources within three (3) days of a conviction of a criminal drug statute violation, which occurred on Company time. As a government contractor, Magellan must notify the Federal government if any of its employees are convicted of a criminal drug statute violation occurring in the workplace. If a conviction arising out of a violation of a civil drug statute on company time is not disclosed by the employee but is later discovered and verified, the employee will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Prior to performing work, notify your manager of any required over-the-counter or prescription drug that may cause adverse side effects or impair your ability to perform your job. Lack of prior notification to your supervisor could result in reasonable suspicion of drug use. Each situation will be evaluated on its own set of facts to ascertain whether termination is appropriate.

Definitions:

- Illegal Drug or Controlled Substance: Any drug that has not been legally obtained or is not being used for its intended purpose or as prescribed.
- Intoxicating Substance: Intoxicating substances shall include illegal or controlled substances, medically prescribed drugs, or alcohol.

Harassment

Magellan is committed to providing all employees with a work environment that is free of unlawful harassment, including sexual harassment. Magellan will not tolerate unlawful harassment in the workplace and does not condone any actions or comments of a harassing nature when based upon race, sex, color, creed, religion, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, age, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, disability, marital status or any other category protected by applicable state or federal law. Magellan promptly investigates any allegation of harassment and will take appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination, when it determines that harassment in violation of this policy has occurred.

At the same time, Magellan recognizes and respects that employees have personal opinions. However, all employees should be aware that personal opinions expressed in the workplace can offend others and create a harassing and hostile work environment in some instances. Magellan expects employees to be aware of how their opinions and behaviors affect others and to treat each other with respect. Magellan confirms its commitment to a work environment free of unlawful harassment by ensuring that managers and employees are aware of the Company's policy through internal communications and Company publications.

- Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of employment or used as basis for employment decisions.

Solicitation

Magellan employees are prohibited from engaging in solicitation or the distribution of literature and other materials not directly connected with their work at Magellan while on Magellan property and/or while on duty, unless pre-approved by both Magellan management and Human Resources. Relationships in the Workplace

In order to prevent situations that might result in conflicts of interest, unfair preferential treatment or creation of a hostile work environment, Magellan does not hire, transfer, promote or retain immediate relatives of a current employee into the same Reporting Chain or into a position that is deemed to be a confidential position.

An immediate relative is defined as the employee's spouse, spousal equivalent, parents, brothers, sisters or children. Reporting Chain refers to positions reporting directly or indirectly to the same supervisor or that will have routine contact in reporting lines above or below the immediate supervisor, as assessed and determined by Human Resources. A confidential position would be a position that involves access to very confidential or sensitive information, such as positions in Human Resources, Finance, Legal and Executive Management, as determined by the Chief Human Resources Officer.

Employees who marry or become related by marriage may continue their employment if they do not work in a direct supervisory relationship or otherwise present problems in supervision, safety, security or morale. If there are problems in these areas, the Company will investigate, and if necessary, attempt to reassign one or both of the employees to an available position for which the employee is qualified in order to eliminate the problem. If, however, no such position is available, one of the employees will be asked to leave the Company. The employees have ninety (90) days to decide which one of them will leave.

Employees and applicants have an obligation to inform Magellan of any family relationships that could result from hiring and to inform Magellan of any family relationships that develop or are formed during the course of employment. Any exceptions to these guidelines are reviewed in advance by the Chief Human Resources Officer.

Social Media

Participation in social media has become a popular communication vehicle between Magellan's colleagues and customers, the general public, traditional and non-traditional media, and other community stakeholders. Such participation may include, but is not limited to, postings in online forums, blogs, wikis, Facebook, LinkedIn, MySpace, YouTube, Twitter, media sites or similar types of online forums. The purpose of this policy is to ensure that communications related to Magellan in social media are consistent with Magellan's Employee Handbook, Code of Conduct, policies and procedures, and applicable laws, including laws concerning privacy, confidentiality, copyright and trademarks. Additionally, we must ensure that Magellan-sponsored social media are used in an appropriate manner and communications must be accurate and expressed in a respectful, professional manner.

Magellan respects the rights of employees to appropriately express their views and opinions, including through the use of social media. In order to protect employees and Magellan, when participating in Magellan-sponsored social media or in other social media where the communication is or could be Magellan related, you should abide by the following guidelines:

1. Be responsible. Communications made in social media should be consistent with Magellan's Employee Handbook, Code of Conduct, values, policies and applicable laws. Employees are personally responsible for their own communications and can be held liable if any party (including, but not limited to, Magellan) deems an employee's communication to be improper, illegal, in violation of this policy, libelous, harassing, threatening, defamatory, or disclosing confidential information.
2. Maintain confidentiality. Communications in social media should never contain information that discloses a member's Protected Health Information (PHI) or Personally Identifiable Information (PII) in any way, including photographs or video. Even if an individual is not identified by name within the information you wish to use or disclose, if there is a reasonable basis to believe that the person could still be identified from that information, then its use or disclosure could constitute a violation of law and/or regulations including without limitation the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), and Magellan's privacy policies. If you have any question whether information is PHI or is sufficiently de-identified, contact the HIPAA Privacy Officer before posting the information.
3. Protect yourself and our business. Communications made through social media must not contain any Magellan Information that is confidential, proprietary or a trade-secret. Also, use only approved social media channels — and not personal social media sites or pages — to conduct Magellan business. Do not disclose or discuss material Company information, matters, or developments unless this information has been previously disclosed to the public. In addition, do not comment on legal matters or ongoing crises or post any information which would result (or have the potential to result) in a detriment to Magellan's business, including, but not limited to, the Magellan's reputation and goodwill. If you are unsure if information is publicly available or is otherwise inappropriate to post, contact Corporate Communications or the Investor Relations Department before posting any such information.

4. Respect copyrights. Individuals should not use copyrighted materials (written, audio, video and all other electronic forms) in their social media communications without proper permission. Company and/or product logos may not be used without written permission, as they imply that you may be speaking on behalf of Magellan. In addition, you may not use Magellan's name for personal benefit and your online activity should not present a conflict of interest. Do not use photographs or video of Magellan's premises, processes, operations, or services without Magellan's prior written approval.
5. Be respectful of others. Individuals should refrain, at all times, from using language that is obscene, defamatory, derogatory, profane, libelous, threatening, harassing, discriminatory, abusive, hateful, discriminatory or humiliating to another person or entity. Speak respectfully of Magellan, its employees, customers and members, as well as other members of Magellan's industry including its competitors. Respect the privacy of Magellan employees and contractors by obtaining permission before discussing or sharing information about or images of colleagues and/or internal workplace events or disclosing colleagues' personal contact information. Remember, you are "speaking" publicly and your contribution may stay searchable and retrievable for a long time to a broad audience - both internally and externally. In addition, Managers should not send "friend" requests to subordinates unless there is a valid business purpose for doing so. Any employee may reject a friend request from any other employee without fear of retaliation.
6. Be honest and accurate. When an employee, temporary staff member, contractor, volunteer or other associate of Magellan communicates in social media about Magellan, provide full disclosure acknowledging the relationship with Magellan and include a disclaimer advising that you are not speaking officially on behalf of the organization. For example, add a disclaimer to read: "The opinions and positions expressed are my own and don't necessarily reflect those of Magellan Health, Inc." Never misrepresent yourself or information about Magellan. Never speak out on behalf of Magellan or hold yourself out as speaking out on behalf of Magellan unless you have been authorized by the Company to do so. Also, communicate accurately and correct errors or omissions in a timely fashion (rather than deleting them).
7. Know who to call. If you are approached by the media concerning anything that you or another Magellan employee may have posted/said in social media concerning Magellan, contact the Corporate Communications department at CorporateCommunications@Magellanhealth.com.

Magellan provides employees with E-mail and Internet access to support Magellan business purposes only. Although users who are given access to these tools may make incidental personal use of them, they may not make extensive personal use of them either during work or non-work time. Each user's manager has the right and responsibility to determine what "extensive use" is and should refer to the Communications and System Security policy for further information and guidance.

Individuals who have concerns regarding workplace conduct or inappropriate behavior are encouraged to contact their immediate supervisor, Human Resources by sending an e-mail to MyMagellan@MagellanHealth.com or the Compliance Hotline by sending an e-mail to Compliance@magellanhealth.com. Social media is not the most effective or appropriate way to resolve such issues, and may only serve to make matters worse. This Policy will not be construed or applied in a manner that improperly interferes with employees' rights under the National Labor Relations Act.

Security

Building Security and Access Control

It is Magellan's policy that each employee working in a Magellan location be issued a security access badge. Badges are to be worn on the outer most layer of clothing and prominently displayed at all times while on Magellan property.

Employees are responsible for the accountability and safekeeping of their badge and must report any loss or malfunction of the badge to the Security Department immediately by calling the Security Hotline: 410-953-2911 or email: BadgeRequests@magellanhealth.com.

Employees are not to use other employees' badges – each badge maintains individual accountability – employees are responsible for things that happen while using their badge.

Unauthorized access to Company premises by non-employees is strictly prohibited. Non-employees on Company premises must be signed in by an employee or designee with the receptionist and indicate the reason for their presence. All visitors and vendors must be accompanied by an authorized escort and should display the ID/Access Badge issued at Reception while on Magellan premises.

Employees should be aware of anyone they do not recognize, and request to see the person's badge before letting him or her inside a secure door. If the individual cannot produce a badge, the employee should escort him or her to the receptionist area.

Equipment Usage

Equipment essential to accomplishing job duties is expensive and may be difficult to replace. Magellan may issue you equipment or other property necessary for you to perform your job. This property remains the sole property of the Company and may not be taken off of the Company's premises without the Company's permission.

You may be asked to sign an agreement that documents your responsibility for any Company property furnished to you. The agreement will authorize a wage deduction for the cost of any Company property which is not returned by you or which is not returned in good condition or working order, taking into consideration normal usage.

When using Magellan property, employees are expected to exercise care, perform required maintenance where appropriate, and follow all operating instructions, safety standards, and guidelines. Notify your supervisor if any equipment or machines appear to be damaged, defective, or in need of repair. Prompt reporting of damages, defects, and the need for repairs could prevent deterioration of equipment and possible injury to employees or others. Systems Support and/or Facilities personnel are available to answer any questions about an employee's responsibility for maintenance and care of equipment used on the job.

At any time that the Company so requests, you must return all property that has been issued to you. Additionally, when your employment terminates, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, you must immediately return all Company property. The property must be in good condition and working order when returned. You will be financially responsible for any property not returned or returned in damaged condition, excluding normal wear and tear.

The improper, careless, negligent, destructive, or unsafe use or operation of equipment can result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

The Company makes every effort to provide employees located at field offices with the necessary equipment needed to successfully complete their tasks. Employees are responsible for all property, materials, or written information issued to them or in their possession or control. Employees must return all Magellan property immediately upon request or upon termination of employment.

Communications and System Security

Magellan respects the individual privacy of its employees. However, employee privacy does not extend to the employee's work related conduct or to the use of Magellan-issued equipment or supplies. Employees should be aware that the following guidelines may affect their privacy in the workplace. It is important that Magellan employees understand the proper use of Magellan's electronic mail (email), voice mail and Internet services, including non-Magellan e-mail services such as Hotmail, Yahoo or AOL (collectively, the "Systems"). Further, this guideline serves to inform employees of the lack of privacy when sending or receiving email messages and/or Internet transmissions using Magellan's email or Internet systems.

Management's Right to Access Information

Email, voice mail and Internet systems have been installed by Magellan to facilitate business communications. Although an employee may have individual passwords to access these systems, these passwords and systems belong to Magellan and the contents of email, voice mail or Internet communications are accessible at all times for any business purpose by Magellan management. These systems may be subject to periodic, unannounced inspections, and should be treated like other shared filing systems. All communications, including text and images, can be disclosed to law enforcement or other third parties without prior consent of the sender or the receiver. Employees should not assume that any message sent via the email, voice mail or Internet systems is confidential.

Personal Use of Magellan email, voice mail or Internet Systems

Access to email, voice mail and/or the Internet system(s) is a privilege and must be treated as such by all users of the systems. Because Magellan provides these systems to assist employees in the performance of their jobs, they should use the systems for official Magellan business. Occasional personal use is allowed, but must be kept to a minimum and must not disrupt normal business functions, systems or processes. Use of email or the Internet must not disrupt the operation of Magellan's network or interfere with an employee's productivity. Magellan management reserves the right to determine the appropriate level of personal use, and to monitor this use by way of automated tools. Since personal messages can be accessed by Magellan management without prior notice, employees should not use email, voice mail or the Internet systems to transmit messages they would not want read or heard by a third party.

Unacceptable uses of Magellan email and Internet systems include, but are not limited to the following:

- Sending, retrieving or storing any communications of a defamatory, discriminatory or harassing nature or materials that are abusive, profane or offensive, obscene or pornographic. Examples of prohibited communications include sexually explicit messages, cartoons, or jokes; unwelcome propositions or love letters; ethnic or racial slurs; or any other text or images that can be construed to harass or disparage others based on an individual's gender, race, physical attributes, sexual orientation, age, national origin, or religious or political beliefs.
- Downloading, viewing, transmitting and/or possessing pornographic, profane, sexually explicit or other offensive materials.
- Sending or receiving gossip, including personal information about the employee or others.
- Forwarding messages under circumstances likely to embarrass the sender.
- Sending emotional responses to business correspondence or work situations.
- Soliciting or proselytizing for commercial ventures, religious or personal causes or outside organizations or other similar, non-job-related solicitations.
- Causing congestion on the network by such things as the propagation of "chain letters", "broadcasting" inappropriate messages to lists of individuals or the downloading music or movies or other media that require significant bandwidth.
- Misrepresenting the employee's identity or affiliation in email or Internet communications.
- Using someone else's identity, user id or password – the sharing of user ids and/or passwords is strictly prohibited.
- Intercepting, disrupting or altering electronic communication packages.
- Using the Systems for any other purpose that is illegal, against Magellan policy or contrary to Magellan's best interests.
- The Systems shall not be used to access, distribute or publish Magellan's trade secrets or proprietary information without proper authorization. Proper encryption schemes shall be utilized in transmitting such trade secrets or proprietary information.
- Transmission of Protected Health Information (under the meaning of that term in HIPAA legislation or regulation) without appropriate protection as described by Magellan policy.

Broadcast Messages

All broadcast messages (messages sent to large numbers of email, voice mail or Internet users) must have the approval of the Information Systems/Human Resources management before sending.

Software and Prevention of Viruses

Incoming documents and/or software programs can pose a serious threat to the Systems. Viruses can destroy not only an employee's company-issued computer but also Magellan's network. Program attachments also pose an additional threat by creating conflicts with the integration of the programs run on an employee's personal computer. Although Magellan has a comprehensive virus protection system in place, Magellan places the following restrictions on its employees to prevent computer viruses from being transmitted through the Systems:

The downloading or installation/introduction of any unauthorized software, including executable files (.exe) attached to emails and software acquired outside Magellan's purchasing procedures, into Systems without the authorization of Magellan's Information Technology (IT) Department, is strictly prohibited. Any Magellan virus infections from downloaded files via the internet are the responsibility of the user that downloads them as indicated by IT monitoring tools. Please note that this restriction does not apply to viruses that are inadvertently received or opened that may be attached to business documents. Intentionally or negligently inflicting any computer virus infection through the downloading of executable files and/or software upon the Magellan LAN/WAN is grounds for immediate disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Violation

Use of Magellan provided email, voice mail or Internet systems in violation of these guidelines will result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination. If necessary, Magellan will advise appropriate legal officials of any illegal acts.

Workplace Inspections

Magellan expressly reserves the right to control the presence of all items on the Company's premises. This includes the right to enter and/or inspect any work area including, but not limited to, desks, packages, containers, backpacks, pocket books, computer systems, telephone messaging systems, etc., with or without notice. Any information discovered during such inspections that would indicate violation of any policies outlined in this handbook, or in the Policies & Standards, may be used as a basis for disciplinary actions, up to and including termination.

Workplace Violence

Providing a safe work environment for our employees and visitors is a key responsibility of Magellan. The Company has a policy of zero tolerance for violence. Violence includes, but is not limited to, physically harming or threatening to harm another person, shoving, pushing, assaulting, brandishing or threatening the use of weapons, or any related conduct, even when conducted in a joking manner. This definition includes threats that are delivered via telephone, fax, electronic or conventional mail or any other communications medium. Employees who engage in or threaten to engage in any form of violence in the workplace may be terminated immediately.

All employees have a responsibility to report any alleged threats of violence that they either hear personally or come to know of through other means. A report of the situation should be made to their manager or the Security Department for immediate investigation.

- Employees are instructed not to attempt to physically restrain or remove a threatening or violent individual. Remove yourself from the situation as soon as possible and contact Security and/or Human Resources.
- Never touch another employee in any manner that could be interpreted as intending violence or invasion of personal space.

Situations/Reactions

If an employee or visitor has concern that a situation in the workplace presents a danger in any form, depending on the degree, the Security Department, management or law enforcement should be contacted. The following chart illustrates that most situations where violence is indicated should be reported to law enforcement and/or Magellan’s Security Department.

Weapons Banned

Magellan specifically prohibits the possession of weapons by any employee while on Company premises. This ban includes keeping or transporting a weapon in a vehicle in a company-designated parking area, except otherwise where prohibited by state law. Employees are also prohibited from carrying a weapon while performing company-related services off the Company’s premises. Weapons include, but are not limited to, guns, knives, explosives, and other items with the potential to inflict harm.

Workplace Security Measures

To promote a safe work environment for employees and visitors, access to Company premises is limited to those individuals with a legitimate business interest. The following rules will be applied:

- At locations that require employees to display their Magellan ID, badges must be worn and visibly displayed at all times.
